titleixcoordinator@illinois.edu

Role of the Title IX Coordinator:

The Lead Title IX Coordinator is responsible for coordinating the University's efforts to comply with and carry out its responsibilities under Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 ("Title IX"), which prohibits sex discrimination, including sexual misconduct, in education programs and activities for institutions that receive federal financial assistance, as well as retaliation for the purpose of interfering with any right or privilege protected by Title IX. The Lead Title IX Coordinator oversees the University's response to all reports and complaints of sexual misconduct to monitor outcomes, identify and address any patterns or systemic problems, and to assess their effects on the campus climate. The Lead Title IX Coordinator also evaluates requests for confidentiality by those who report or complain about sexual misconduct in the context of the University's responsibility to provide safe and welcoming campus environment for all students free from discrimination based on sex.

A person should contact the Lead Title IX Coordinator or a Deputy Title IX Coordinator to:

- seek information or training about rights and available actions to resolve reports or complaints involving potential sex discrimination, including sexual misconduct;
- file a complaint or make a report of sex discrimination, including sexual misconduct;
- notify the University of an incident, policy or procedure that may raise potential Title IX concerns;
- get information about available resources (including confidential resources) and support services relating to sex discrimination, including sexual misconduct; and
- ask questions about the University's policies and procedures related to sex discrimination, including sexual misconduct.
